Plot Tips Character Profile Notes

PRESENT LEAD WITH A CRISIS

The crisis is a terrible problem that turns Lead's world upside down and forces your lead to take immediate action to set things right. The crisis must meet three important criteria:

1. It must be genre appropriate. Ask yourself: Is this the kind of crisis found in books of this genre?
2. It must turn Lead's life upside down in a NEGATIVE way. Ask yourself: Is my crisis "bad" enough? If it's not, your readers won't believe that Lead would make solving it a top priority. Moreover, it won't take Lead long enough - an entire novel's length - to solve it, and your story will run out of steam part of the way through.
3. It must capture your
